

COVID:19 CONFERENCE

AFTER LOCK DOWN PREPAREDNESS

As governments around the world take urgent action to save lives, protect livelihoods from the COVID-19 pandemic, and plan to call off the Lock Down, our organizations and partners have stepped up to this challenge by planning a free online conference education on "COVID-19:After Lock-Down Preparedness". The conference aim is to enact action on setting the pace for community sustainability and healthy living preparedness on after COVID-19 Lock-Down.

The purpose is to create content for community education,erase emerging self stigma or negative emotional health and build healthy confidence in the minds of people while strengthening economic and human healthy living.The goal is to ensure that as the world leaders call off the global Lock-Down, efforts could be made to ensure adequate measures are taken through education and public knowledge that things are in place for personal,family,community and societal sustainability.

- The Objective is to prepare people on;
- Overall education about COVID-19
 - Strategy to overcome impending psychology and emotional health
 - Knowledge about "After Lock-down preparedness and Sustainability
 - Adjusting to economic growth and development
 - Management and prevention of COVID-19
 - Women and Children Carefulness
 - Role of community stakeholders and civil Society Organizations

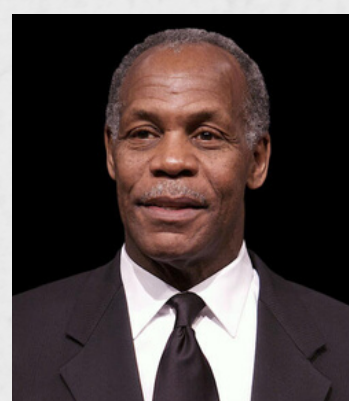

The outcome will provide guidance to continued work by community service organizations on their mission to healthy humanity with respect to COVID-19 control, prevention and management. The outcome will further help our organizations to devise more responsive and resilient health management, care and prevention interventions to maintain the current health crisis and mitigate the long-term health and economic impact on humanity.
