The purpose of this program is to create content for community education, reduce emerging self-stigma, negative emotional health and to build healthy confidence in the minds of people while strengthening economic and human healthy living. The goal is to ensure that as the world leaders call off the Global Lock-Down, efforts could be made to ensure adequate measures are taken through education and public knowledge that strategies are in place for personal, family, community and societal sustainability. The outcome will provide tools and strategies to strengthen the work being done by community service organizations in their mission to promote health, wellbeing and humanity while focusing on COVID-19 control and societal recovery and advancement of SDG 3. The outcome can further help various organizations to devise more responsive and targeted health management, care and prevention and mitigate the negative long-term health and economic impact on humanity

You are invited to a Zoom meeting.

As governments around the world take urgent action to save lives, protect livelihoods from the COVID-19 pandemic, and plan to call off the Lock Down, our organizations and partners have stepped up to this challenge by planning a free online conference 'Education on "COVID-19:After Lock-Down Preparedness"'. The aim of the conference is to enact action on setting the stage for community sustainability and healthy living preparedness during and after COVID-19 Lock-Down.

The purpose of this program is to create content for community education, reduce emerging self-stigma, negative emotional health and to build healthy confidence in the minds of people while strengthening economic and human healthy living. The goal is to ensure that as the world leaders call off the Global Lock-Down, efforts could be made to ensure adequate measures are taken through education and public knowledge that strategies are in place for personal, family, community and societal sustainability.

The Objective is to educate people on;
Overall education about COVID-19
Strategy to overcome anxiety fears and maintain good emotional health
Knowledge about "After Lock-down preparedness and Sustainability
Adjusting to economic growth and development
Management and prevention of future COVID-19 outbreaks
Wellbeing of Women and Children
Role of community stakeholders and Civil Society Organizations post COVID

The outcome will provide tools and strategies to strengthen the work being done by community service organizations in their mission to promote health, wellbeing and humanity while focusing on COVID-19 control and societal recovery and advancement of SDG 3 . The outcome can further help various organizations to devise more responsive and targeted health management, care and prevention and mitigate the negative long-term health and economic impact on humanity
